

Alert Type: Rapid Onset Crisis

Alert Title: Floods affecting displaced communities and camps in Syria

Alerting Organisation(s): Danish Muslim Aid

Date Received: 16.02.26

Decision Date: 18.02.26

By: DERF Fund Management

Crisis country and location(s): Syria

Decision: Not to activate the DERF to respond to Floods affecting displaced communities and camps in Syria

Reason:

The flooding across 21 IDP sites in Idleb and northern Lattakia is acknowledged as serious, with approximately 5,300 internally displaced persons directly affected, 1,850 tents partially damaged and 149 destroyed, and 3 reported fatalities, in addition to significant disruption to health services. Emergency shelter, winterisation, health and protection needs remain acute, and humanitarian partners are mobilising multi-sectoral assistance in coordination with local authorities.

However, based on the available information, a coordinated humanitarian response is already underway, including inter-agency assessments, deployment of mobile medical teams, activation of contingency stocks, relocation to collective shelters, and sector-level response mechanisms.

Therefore, although the severity of the situation in Syria is acknowledged, DERF's limited funding envelope requires prioritisation of contexts that are critically underfunded and underserved, where acute life-saving needs remain insufficiently addressed. In line with DERF's alert activation criteria - including scale and severity – the current situation does not meet the threshold for activation. On this basis, the situation falls outside DERF's current activation priorities.
