LOCALLY LED AND HUMAN RIGHTS-BASED DEVELOPMENT

LOKALT LEDEDE OG MENNESKERETTIGHEDSBASEREDE
UDVIKLINGSPROCESSER

HUMAN RIGHTS

Fundamental human rights must be respected, protected, and fulfilled.

On one hand, a human rights-based approach focuses on enabling people to demand their rights and holding duty-bearers accountable.

On the other hand, it is expected that the affected rightsholders are adequately involved in the entire development cycle. In the case of tribal and indigenous peoples and according to their collective human rights, this requires a process of free, prior and informed consent (FPIC).

The approach focuses on eliminating unequal power relations and unequal distribution of resources. The approach rests on four fundamental principles: Participation, Accountability, Non-discrimination, and Transparency (PANT).

Applicants must demonstrate how the intervention use a human rights-based approach to work with rights holders and/or duty bearers to promote the situation of the rights holders.

LOCALLY LED DEVELOPMENT

an ongoing development process where local actors have agency in framing, design, delivery (including control over resources), and accountability, with or without the support of international development cooperation.

HOW FAR DO WE TAKE IT?

Local partner
Local beneficiaries
(rights holders)

1. Information sharing
2. Involvement in strategy development and general design
3. Consent
4. Fully shared partnership accountability.
5. Danish CSO fiscal sponsor role

The cover of a document titled 'Protocolo Bio-cultural del Pueblo Indígena Miskitu'. It features a photograph of two children, a girl in a purple dress and a boy in a blue shirt, standing on a log over a river. The background shows a lush green forest and a river with white water rapids. In the top right corner, there is a circular logo for 'Miskitu - Unidad de Miskitu' with 'MASTA' written below it. The text on the cover reads: 'Protocolo Bio-cultural del Pueblo Indígena Miskitu' and 'El derecho al consentimiento libre, previo e informado en nuestro territorio de La Muskitia Hondureña'.
